

Learn about the website deutschland.de deutschland.de

Welcome to the website deutschland.de!

You opened this website because you are interested in Germany.

For example:

- in the country and the people
 - in the politics and the economy
 - in the culture and the history
-

Maybe you would like to work in Germany.
You can also study or train here.

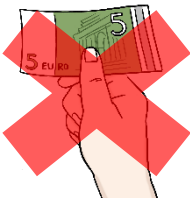

On this website you will find all about these topics.

We want to offer you a lot of information on Germany.

For example:

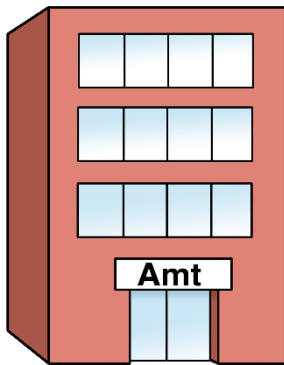

- Germany's relations with other countries.
- The opinion of the German government on issues around the world.

The website is free to use.
And, there are no ads.

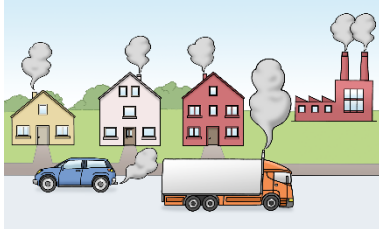

You can read the website in 10 different languages.

The Federal Foreign Office of Germany looks after Germany's relations with other countries.

The Federal Foreign Office ordered this website.

The team of Fazit Communication made the website for the Federal Foreign Office.

Topic of the week

Every week we choose a topic.

It is called:

Topic of the week.

You find the topic of the week on the top of the website.

It is always a current topic.

The topic can come from different fields:

- politics
- life in Germany
- science
- economy
- environment
- culture
- work and studies

Germany at a glance

There is a lot of information on Germany.

We made a short overview.

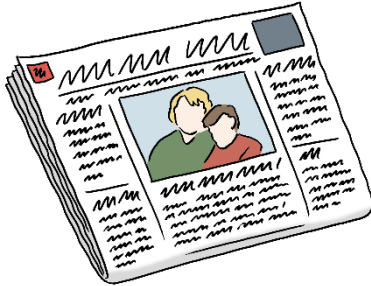

The overview on the website is called: Germany at a glance.

Here we explain for example:

- How democracy and elections work.
- What the federal states do.
- Information on working and studying in Germany.

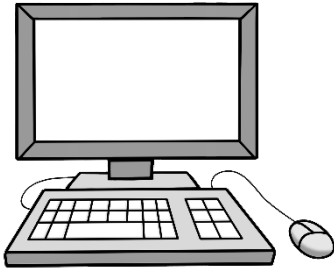

News

There are current news on the website.
The news are interesting for all people.
No matter where they live.

For example there are news on:

- Germany working together with other countries.
- Germany working for peace and democracy in the world.
- Germany working against the climate change.

There are many texts on this website.
But there are also many pictures and videos with explanations.

Regional focus

Here you can find the information about Germany's relations with other countries.

A part of a country is called: a region.

Focus here means:

We look at one relation at a time.

Have fun on the website deutschland.de!